

He said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. Mark 16:15-16

God's true love is transmitted from only one person-the Messiah. In order to connect that true love to a bride, this process must take place: the bride must move in the proper direction in order to connect with the bridegroom, just as the bridegroom is coming from a certain direction to connect with her. Once their unity is achieved, the bride must then go out into her fallen country to bring about unity among the churches and within the nation and to bring them all back to the bridegroom.

There is only one way for the fallen world, whether an individual, a church or a nation, to reconnect with God, and that is through the Messiah. He is like the origin; he is like the seed. Even though people are already born and grown, they all have to trace back to the same father and be born again.

The only way to do that is to love the Messiah intensely. This is precisely the law that was in effect when Jesus came as the Messiah. The Divine Principle and the restoration do not compromise. SMM, Original Eden Centering On True Love, May 27, 1984

Greetings!

Sunday's service began with the singing of the Blessing of Glory CIG national anthem written by True Father after his release from the Hungnam death camp. It was followed by a moving prayer by Yeonah Nim expressing appreciation for the beautiful autumn foliage but also repenting for times when she viewed things through her own personal emotion and finally expressing gratitude for God's perfect will.

Hyung Jin Nim spoke about the VetStock and "Folds of Honor" benefit dinner on Friday, honoring ex-Army Captain Christina Martin, an Iraq war veteran and Bronze Star recipient, and Pat Solano, a WW2 veteran and former state government official, who has done much in the Northeast Pennsylvania community. He raised up and advised many of existing and past political leaders serving in local, state and national positions. Vetstock builds houses for disabled veterans. Hyung Jin Nim was asked to do both an opening and a closing prayer at the event and did so in a spirit-filled, uplifting way.

At the service he commented how valuable it is for those who fought in foreign wars to understand their sacrifice and suffering in a Biblical context. Many are searching precisely for that. Veterans who returned from Korean and Vietnam wars were not honored the way that the WW2 veterans were. At the awards dinner Mr. Solano asked everyone to stand up and give applause to the Vietnam and Korean veterans, who faithfully served their country by fighting the Communists with little or no appreciation given and even accused of doing the horrific war crimes that the Communists did on a regular basis.

Hyung Jin Nim also spoke about a new Vice News video on the Rod of Iron Freedom Festival that was released last week. Despite its sensational title, the video, already viewed by 130,000, included interviews with several participants and why they attended. One elderly man explained how much he appreciated the festival at a time when our 1st and 2nd amendment rights are being ferociously attacked almost every day.

Inside the Gun-Worshipping Moonie Church That Wants to MAGA

As discussed in Chapter 13 of the Our Father Forsaken book, Hyung Jin Nim discussed how Darwin's claims of a gradual progression of randomly evolving species have been disproven by thousands of archeological findings. Since Darwin's death the fossil record has come up with no missing links, instead revealing the sudden appearance of fully formed and functioning species, mostly in the Cambrian Age, also known as the "Cambrian Explosion."

Hyung Jin Nim also gave guidance to the wives, saying, "you as moms cannot be a role model for your sons. Only a man can really do that. If your husband has weak points, the way to change your husband's and son's behavior is not through nagging or through throwing a temper tantrum, but through showing respect."

One way to do that is to respect his time. Men sometimes need to be in the "nothing box" decompressing from stress, etc. Wives/mothers need to be in emotional self-control. Yeonah Nim respects her sons' time by making an appointment if she wants to talk to them about something. She sets a timer for 30 minutes so they know how long the meeting will last, a good example of high-level parenting that builds trust.

The Great Commission /Sanctuary Church Sunday Service 11/03/19

Government schools often send the message "don't trust your parents," so we cannot expect such schools to communicate good, much less Godly, values. Last week he and Yeonah Nim took Shinpal, their oldest son, for a "date." On such "dates," each of their children were asked to express "3 things about each family member that you're grateful for." With Shin Pal they have done this for 15 years. One on one time with each child is important. He also advised parents to teach your children to put 50% of what they earn or receive away for future savings/ investments, to give 10% to support church or other ministries and then the remaining 40% for things they enjoy.

The first generation were fighting a (spiritual) war. The second generation are now free to focus more on their families and to invest in relationships with each one of their children. Just like Heavenly Father has an independent relationship with each one of us.

The psychologist and public speaker Jordan Peterson says that you need 90 minutes of face-to-face time with your spouse each week. Go on a weekly "date" together. It's important to fill her needs for connection and romance. You can refer to each other as the King and the Queen. Keep "hunting" and pursuing your wife!

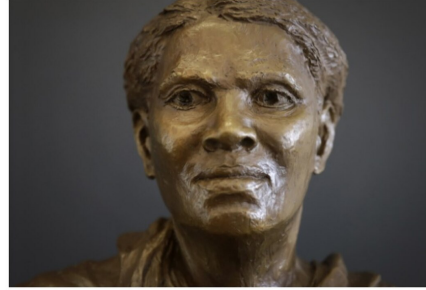

Young children whose parents divorce often have PTSD. It can be more traumatic psychologically than going to war since they did not choose to have divorced parents, while veterans were adults when they enlisted. Satan will often come to children of abuse or divorce and say "kill yourself." Or they often have anxiety that they will also get divorced. But they can take actions to avoid such anxiety by rejecting negative thoughts and self-doubt.

Feminist culture encourages women to feel they are being oppressed. But most men are working hard to support their families, with some even giving 80% of their salaries to their wives to spend. It's important for couples to train and pray together.

Harriet Tubman, Woman of Faith and Action

Harriet, Movie Review
by Herwig Schmid

Harriet Tubman, as this film portrays so beautifully, was a force to be reckoned with. The film tells Harriet's story and shows that she was fearless, intelligent, bold, resilient and utterly selfless.

Harriet made history not only for fighting her way to freedom, but for repeatedly risking her life to lead hundreds to freedom with her. Later, she would even participate in the Civil War and was one of the few women in U.S. history to lead an armed militia.

As a young girl, Harriet began to receive spiritual visions, or premonitions, that forewarned her of the danger to come and taught her how to avoid harm. At times, they come in the form of dreams as she sleeps. Other times, Harriet feels them coming on and slips into a trance-like state in which she experiences the mystical directives. Harriet uses these visions from God to lead herself, and her people, to freedom.

Slave masters used even the Bible to manipulate, abuse and control their slaves. A man named Gideon, the hardhearted plantation owner who grew up with Harriet and who now "owns" her, tells Harriet "suicide is a sin against God" and against slave owners. He manipulatively tries to lure her back into slavery and abuse.

Negro spirituals, songs used to describe the hardships of slavery and to give hope, are sung throughout the entire film. Harriet especially uses them to summon slaves to freedom. She's later given the name "Moses" by frustrated plantation owners as she frees hundreds of slaves, just as Moses delivered the Egyptians out of the hands of Pharaoh.

For those who have only read about Harriet Tubman in high school or glazed over history books, this movie delves into her life and its eternal impact. This story also helps us see her as a fearless leader and warrior led by the hand of God. Harriet is a deeply moving film that shows what true sacrifice and heroism look like; and it does so without a lot of the violence that was certainly present during Harriet's life.

"Since humankind has received satanic blood, people cannot return to God on their own. So the Messiah must accomplish absolute restoration of the lineage, renewing the bloodline that was defiled by Satan. This transition must be made. This is why the Messiah must surely come."
